

LOUISE ROSEMANN B.A., M. Bus (Emp Rel)

Louise has worked in public sector management for over 12 years, primarily in workplace grievance resolution, anti-discrimination and equal employment opportunity as well as in general management. Her training experience encompasses lecturing at the University of Technology Sydney in employment relations and for the University of Western Sydney Graduate Diploma in Mediation Practice as well as providing training for national organisations such as Qantas.

Over the last decade, Louise has been engaged as a mediator with the Community Justice Centres NSW, Relationships Australia NSW, Health Conciliation Registry, Juvenile Justice Youth Conferencing and Strata Schemes Office, NSW Department of Fair Trading. Louise has trained mediators for Relationships Australia for the last four years and has recently developed a 96 hour VETAB Accredited course in mediation, as well as shorter courses.

Louise has been a member of the Board of Management of the Australian Dispute Resolution Association for the last three years, the last two as Deputy President. Louise is currently the President of ADRA.