Australia Dispute Resolution Association
Supporting and transforming the community of dispute resolution practice by providing leadership, direction and growth

ABOUT US

ADRA was established in 1986 and has been at the forefront of all forms of dispute resolution in Australia. ADRA is proud of its heritage and continues to be a catalyst committed to the future development of dispute resolution nationally and internationally.

ADRA brings together dispute resolution practitioners and those with an interest in dispute resolution to benefit from networking with each other, sharing experiences and knowledge with professionals, such as solicitors and law experts from across Sydney and Australia at our regular events.

ADRA's varying levels of membership suit all levels of experience and involvement. Practitioner Members may apply to become Nationally Accredited Mediators through ADRA. ADRA advocates for the development of national standards of alternative dispute resolution that meet the diverse needs of its members.
